

The TEACH grant has allowed me to pursue a teaching degree. Learning to teach young minds is a task that I cannot take lightly. It is full of challenges and frustrations – not to mention responsibilities. However, it is also a task that is full of excitement, wonder, and happiness. Currently, I am a special education paraprofessional who is studying education in order to become a certified teacher. Thanks to the TEACH grant, I can continue to take the classes that I need in order to complete my degree.
