Student Profile:

Teaching had always been in the back of my mind, a nagging voice that there was something greater, more meaningful, more important to the future of our civic society than my now-previous career. As you can guess, I made the jump, applying to a teacher education program to follow this dream of making mathematics accessible to all students, especially those to whom the subject has traditionally marginalized and deterred from future learning. The only way this was possible was through generous financial aid, especially the TEACH Grant. This grant helped make graduate school financially possible, allowing me to concentrate my efforts on becoming the finest educator I can be to the thousands of young people who I can't wait to meet over the many years I hope to call myself a teacher.
