Dr. Traci Gile

Principal, Lopez Elementary

Dr. Gile has been a proud public school educator for 20 years. While teaching at Loveland High School, she became an inaugural staff member of the Colorado Online School Consortium. She oversaw and provided training in technology integration and 21st century skills to all instructional staff. Additionally, she designed and taught induction courses for new teachers entering the district. An additional part of the position was developing professional development for teachers in standards-based teaching and learning as well as best practices in assessment. This experience led to consulting work in Mapleton School District in Denver and the parochial schools in New Orleans, LA. In 2004, she entered the Principal Licensure program at Colorado State University's School of Teacher Education and Principal Preparation (STEPP). After completing the program, she became principal of Mary Blair Elementary School in 2005. During this time, she went back to Colorado State to pursue a Ph.D. in Educational Leadership and wrote her dissertation on principal leadership during systemic reform, specifically focusing on Response to Intervention. After completing her doctoral work in 2011, she was hired as principal at Lopez Elementary in Fort Collins, Colorado.

Roy Tripi

Dean of Students, Wellington Middle School

Roy Tripi is currently in his 20th year in education. The first 19 years he taught Physical Education and Health at Rocky Mountain High School in Fort Collins, CO. After completion of the Principal Licensure program at Colorado State, he accepted the position as Dean of Students at Wellington Middle School in Wellington, CO. He has enjoyed this new opportunity to work with students and teachers to maintain a positive learning environment for all students. He is married to his wife JoAnna for almost 20 years and has two great boys. Casey is a sophomore in high school and Elliott is a seventh grader. In his free time, he enjoys spending time with my family, reading, and cooking.

Stason Ikenouye

Private Investigator and Security Expert

Stason Ikenouye is a private investigator and professional instructor with over 10 years of law enforcement, special operations, security, investigative and instructional experience. Stason is a POST certified firearms instructor and NRA Patrol Rifle instructor. He served as a SWAT Operator, Police Detective, County Critical Incident Response Team Detective, Field Evidence Technician, School Resource Officer, and a Field Training Officer. Stason has also served as a Security Supervisor for a United States Military installation and was responsible for the physical security of the premises and personnel. Stason is the winner of the 2011 CPPA Law Enforcement Shooting Competition, recipient of a Lifesaving award during a methamphetamine lab investigation, Unit Citation for investigative efforts during a shooting investigation, and an award of Valor for disregarding personal safety and entering a burning building and carrying an unconscious victim to safety.
