

The University of North Carolina at Greensboro
Greensboro, North Carolina

Institution Contact Information:

First Name: Jacqueline                      Last Name: Dozier
Title: Director and Certification Officer
Email: jndozier@uncg.edu

---

TEACH Grant Recipient

First Name: Kelsey                      Last Name: Mullens

Student Profile:

Some people dream of being scientists, some people dream of being CEO's, some people dream of being doctors. Well, I dream of being a teacher. Teaching is a passion I developed later on in life, but I know it is the correct path for me. While sitting in class at UNCG learning all the ways of education all I feel is complete and utter excitement. When I walk into my internship and see a class of students excited to learn my heart is full of joy. These feelings are priceless. However, there is a price placed on these experiences, due to their relation to receiving a college degree. My ability to earn my degree is greatly influenced by my ability to pay for my degree. The TEACH grant enables me to earn the title of teacher and radically change my life while providing students the education they deserve.